So Dr. Frick, did you hear the one about ...

Ted, Steve, and Greg take a time out

Resources

(re' sôrs əs), n. Something that can be turned to for support or help: The library has many resources which aid students in their studies and school assignments.

Where do I start looking?

Quiet, please

Quiet moments of study

Elms in the years past

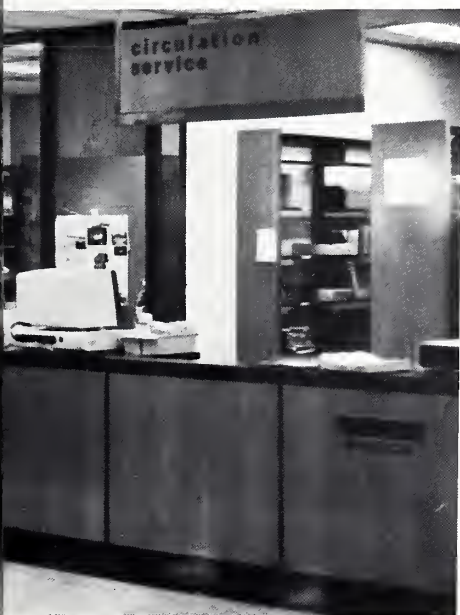

The copying machine broken again

Mom, I just lost the file

Mission accomplished

She is really sleeping

Expressions

(ĭk sprĕsh' əns), n. The capturing of a special personality in action: The year-book is a perfect medium for winning expressions.

New Beginnings

Tom, I never would have guessed!

Don't walk so fast!

I want to party with you baby!

Friends, fun, and pom-pons

Hey, take the picture!

Are you having a good time?

You missed a spot right here

LIBERAL ARTS

Campus Life

Rack-Out

(rāk out), n. During the new student orientation, new students at Elmhurst College are introduced to the College through a variety of methods. Some methods include games in the mall, a barbecue in the mall, an activities fair in the lobby of the Union, and various other programs. One of the unofficial programs is rack-out. During one of the nights, the students are asked to participate in some activities that last most of the night. Generally, it is a memorable time.

Hey, so what if we get a little wet!

Carry those picnic tables!

More fun!

Everyone grab a part and GO!

Time to stack the tables

Good times at the Leadership Conference.

Leadership Conference

(lē' dər shīp kōn' fər əns), n. Every year in the month of January, the Dean of Students Office, along with CLC, sponsors an event, mandatory for all organizations on campus to attend. At the conference, the leaders of the organizations on campus learn how to be better leaders.

Freshmen

(frēsh' mən), n. Freshmen are the new students on campus. Typically, freshmen are fresh out of high school, thus the name freshmen. Every freshman along with other transfer students participate in the new student orientation program each fall. At orientation, freshmen can look forward to a barbecue in the mall, a dance, a boat ride, and rack-out (See page 18). Freshmen can look forward to many good times at E.C.

Sophomores

(sŏf ə mŏrs), n. Sophomores are one step above freshmen and will soon be considered upper-classmen. Technically, a sophomore is a student who has completed between eight and fifteen courses. Usually sophomore year is the time when many students become heavily involved with school, since they already had a year to get acquainted with the school.

Juniors

(jōōn' yərs), n. Once one has attained the status of a junior, one has also achieved the prestige of being called an upperclassman. For some, this means that there is only one more year left after this; however, for others, they may be planning to stay for an additional two years. Technically, a junior is a student who has completed between sixteen and twenty-three courses. It's all down hill now!

Seniors

(sēn' yərs), n. Once one has attained the standing of a senior, one is ready to take that big step to the outside world. To be a senior, a student must have completed twenty-four courses. Senior year has many things to look forward to. The main event of the year is graduation. Graduation is what everyone looks forward to. However, before graduation, there is the party that the E.C. sponsors for only graduating seniors. This is the time that seniors can reminisce about good times.

Alpha Tau Omega & Lil' Sisters

(al'fə tou ō mĕg'ə), n. Alpha Tau Omega is one of the two men's social fraternities on campus. This year ATO was very active with many fund raisers that turned out to be very enjoyable for the rest of the campus. In 1984-1985, ATO sponsored a St. Patrick's Day Dance and a large dinner/dance at a hotel in downtown Chicago. During this time, ATO was run by their new President Jeff Milkert. In addition to the dances ATO sponsored, they still managed to have their fall and spring formals.

Volleyball

(vol' ē bôl), n. E.C.'s highly successful spikers can be found diving, setting, and serving on their home court in the PEC. It's a great sport for both participants and spectators. Last year was the ultimate year for the Lady Bluejay volleyball team. The team had the best year in the history of E.C., winning the conference, regional, and national titles. This year Coach Walton has only two returning players. He will rebuild and hope for the best in the 84 season.

Come on girls

Men's Tennis

(mĕns tĕn' is), n. The men's tennis team starts up each season in the spring. They take over the courts after the ladies finish their season in the fall. This year Elmhurst had two conference champions, Sean McGinnis and Bill Most, in the men's doubles category. Other players include Ron Beecroft, Mitch Langelier, Dan Piemonte, Tom Wolff, Kurt Fenton, Jay Frazier, and Mike Hanke.

Women's Tennis

(wim' ins tēn' is), n. E.C.'s Billie Jeans, Everts, and Goolagongs take the courts each fall term. The ladies have been in competition and have done very well this year. The ladies play well in either singles or doubles. This year E.C. had two conference champions; Karin Fox in second singles, and Lisa Piemonte and Fox in first singles.

Karin Fox serves to open the match

Lisa Piemonte returns her opponent's serve

Baseball

(bās' bôl), n. Always in the hunt for another CCIW championship, E.C.'s baseball team provides plenty of excitement. You can watch the team in action at Butterfield Park, located at Van Buren and Linden Avenue in South Elmhurst. If you are interested in playing with the team, contact Coach Charlie Goehl.

Softball

(sôft' bôl), n. Put on your mud spikes and join the lady sluggers as they take to the diamond each spring (even if, as usual, there is no spring). The new head coach this year is Bruce Hill. He will have some returning players from last year, but there are many open positions for newcomers. The home games will be played at Plunkett Field on West Ave. one mile from the campus.

Wrestling

Men's Basketball

(mëns bäs' kīt bôl), n. Catch the Bluejay cagers as they soar after the CCIW crown. Ever tough at home, the E.C. Five hit the hardcourt at the new gym, just north of the library. Join the winter madness and cheer the 'Jay dribblers on to V-I-C-T-O-R-Y!! If you are really enthusiastic, become a Bleacher Creature.

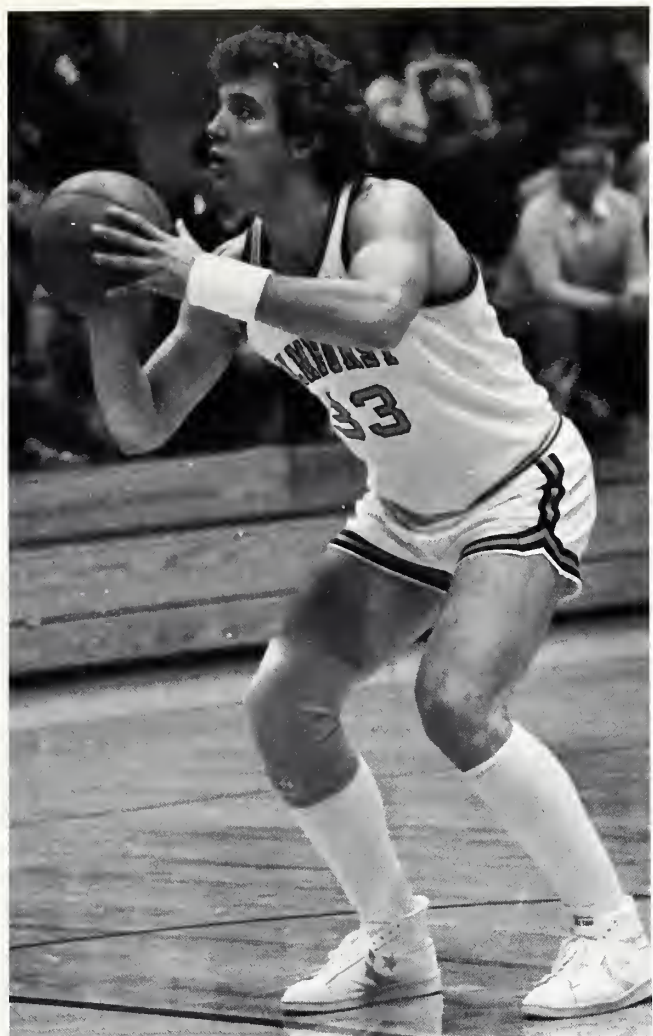

Let's do it again!

Get that ball!

Now that you have it — GO GO GO!!

Make it!

OK guys, let's get some offense out there!!

Battling for the points

Let's have the ball!

Women's Basketball

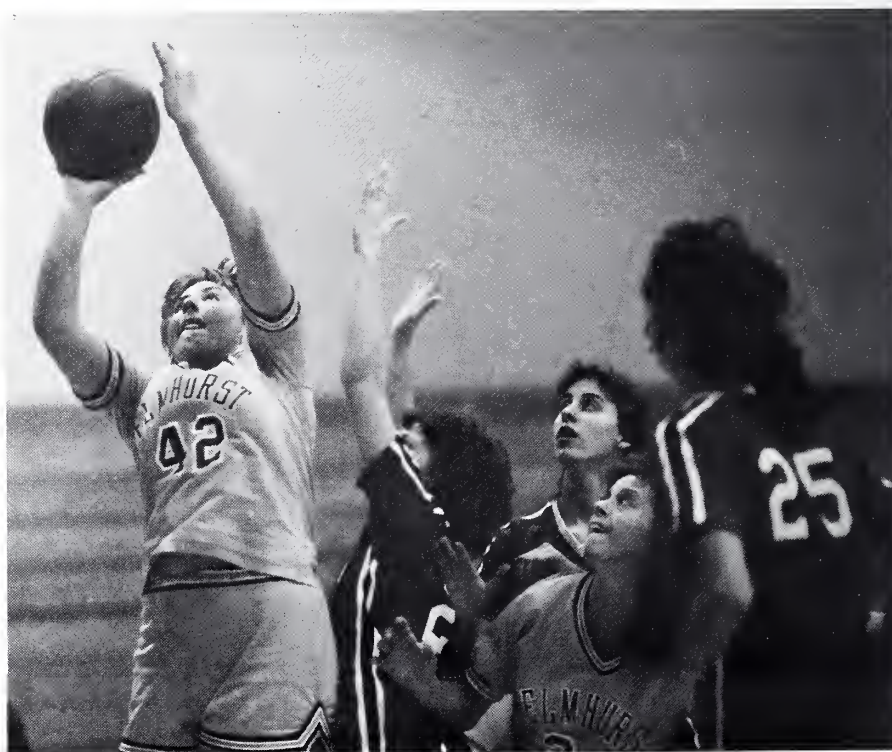

(wim' ins bäs' kit bôl), n. In her first year as head basketball coach, Debra Novgrod will change a few things the team has done in the past, but not many. She could have one of the best teams in Elmhurst history this year with the mix of talent and experience on the team. The team lost only one starter this year who was depended on for her scoring.

Freshmen

(frĕsh' mən), n. Are you a newcomer to Elmhurst College fresh out of high school? If you are, you can consider yourself a freshman. Freshmen can look forward to an exciting year full of new experiences, many of which are beneficial to your further stay at Elmhurst. Freshmen begin there stay at Elmhurst with new student orientation. This is a time for many of the new students to meet there new classmates.

Seniors

(sēn' yərs), n. This is what every freshman anxiously awaits; his senior year. Hopefully, by the time one is a senior, one has completed the classes necessary to graduate in May. However, some students graduate with a pending status. This means that the student will receive his diploma when he finishes his last course during the summer session. Either way, a senior can look forward to the graduation party and commencement.

Graduation

(grāj öö ā' shən), n. Graduation is a time when all seniors are rewarded for their hard work of four or more years of schooling. In addition to the commencement and baccalaureate services, seniors can look forward to the annual Senior Party and other personal social events. For some people, education in a college atmosphere has ended, others however will go on to graduate school.

Closing

(klōz' ing), n. It is with regret that my tenure as the Elms Yearbook Editor-in-Chief must come to an end. Prior to undertaking this responsibility, I had no idea of the magnitude of this project and the difficulty in producing a book consisting of two years' activities here at Elmhurst College. Thus, this year's special addition required an enormous amount of editing and review causing a delay in its publication.

It was important to our staff that as many facets of Elmhurst College be represented in this special edition. However, space and time finally gave out and a few groups were left unmentioned. We are very sorry for this editorial decision and hope no one is especially offended.

The task of completing this project would not have been possible without the help of the following people and organizations: Phyllis Iovino, Bruce Hill, Lola French, Herb Shenkin, Kay Weideman, Steve Brockway, Kimberly Hayes, the Development and Public Relations Office, the Leader, the Dean of Students Office, the Elms staff, and all the other organizations on campus which supplied the Elms with the information and pictures necessary in completing the yearbook.

Our special edition Elms Yearbook is dedicated in providing its readers with good memories for years to come. Again, thanks to everyone who helped with this book.
